Cutworms Ravage Stubbed Crops

LETHBRIDGE, May 28 (C.P.) — South Alberta farmers are training their guns on a double enemy of the crops grass hoppers and cutworms. Billions of tiny hoppers are hatching while on a front from Magrath north to Barons cutworms are attacking wheat fields.

The Cutworm attacks, however, are mostly confined to stubbled crops, probably about 10 per cent of the whole seeded acreage. Summerfallow crops have not shown much sign of damage as yet. Grasshopper poison mixing stations are at work and some are ending out as much as 15 tons of poison daily.

Farmers, however, are hoping for rain as a check on the ravages of both cutworms and grass hopper pests.

Phosphated salt blocks for use in combating the serious effects of phosphate deficiency among livestock have been recently developed by a Canadian salt firm.

Bone diseases and stiff-sickness are caused by a shortage of phosphate in the feed rations of livestock and it has recently been learned that there are large areas in Canada where the natural crops are phosphate deficient. Western Ontario, southern Alberta, southern Saskatchewan, Central Manitoba, and the Fraser River Valley are all affected. It is claimed that the new phosphated blocks will be equally as effective in preventing and relieving these two diseases in these areas as a sodized salt has been in preventing goitre in the great goitre belt, which consists of the Great Lake region in Ontario and the glacier water-fed districts in Alberta and British Columbia. ## A Moral Renaissance

In a world riven with fear and mistrust, with greed, hatred and suspicion rampant between individuals, between economic, political and social groups and between nations, there must be much inward searching of souls, much communing of hearts in an effort to find the cause of all this strife in the hope that thereby a remedy may be found and once again nations may live in peace and people may pursue the paths of progress with hope and confidence in the future.

That there is much travail, seething and unrest at home and abroad no one can gainsay, and until some key has been found which will unlock the gate to peace and prosperity, there can be no assurance of widespread happiness and contentment.

What is this key, millions of people are asking themselves and asking one another as they view with dismay the ruffled waters of a troubled humanity?

Perhaps the answer is to be found in the statement made in the British House of Lords on March 19, 1936 by the Marquess of Salisbury, scion of the famous prime minister of the same name in the late Victorian era, when he said:

"The cause of the world's state is not economic; the cause is moral. . . If I may use a phrase which is common in a great movement which is taking place in this country and elsewhere (The Oxford Group) what you want are God-guided personalities, which make God-guided nationalities, to make a new world. All the other ideas of economic adjustments are too small really to touch the centre of the evil."

If such a statement were made from the pulpit it would probably be regarded by many as more or less of a commonplace, something to be expected from such a source, but when it is made by a peer of the realm in such an institution as the House of Lords of Great Britain, it has more arresting and significant effect and serves to emphasize what might be considered a platitude if uttered by others elsewhere.

The minds of many great leaders are being directed in this channel as is evident from recent utterances of other great men whose words, whether their political or economic creeds are accepted, inspire serious thought and consideration.

A similar idea was expressed about the same time by President Roosevelt of the United States when he said:

"No greater thing could come today to our land than a revival of the spirit of religion—a revival that would sweep through the homes of the nation and stir the hearts of men and women of all faiths to a reassertion of their belief in God and their dedication to His will for themselves and for their world. I doubt if there is any problem—social, political or economic—that would not melt away before the fire of such a spiritual awakening."

Further testimony in support of this sentiment comes from Roger Babson, founder of the Babson Statistical organization, whose prophecies of future trends based on statistical data are regarded as authoritative over the entire continent. Mr. Babson recently said: "I expect a business revival. But only a spiritual awakening among the people can make it enduring."

These and other authorities and leaders in many countries of the world are unanimous in their opinion that before there can be a change in the national and international outlook it is essential that the viewpoint be changed and that, in effect, a moral renaissance is necessary for the national viewpoint can be none other than that of the individuals which constitute it.

It might perhaps be said: What is the use of Canadians adopting an unselfish or a lofty moral viewpoint so long as the peoples of other countries exemplify a diametrically opposed outlook? Such a restricted conception of purpose and duty could only serve to delay the consummation of the peace, concord and prosperity which the great majority desire to see. Reform and improvement must first come from within and spread outwards like the ripples on the water from the cast stone.

Whether one agrees or not with the doctrines of the Oxford Group movement, one cannot but recognize that when they draw attention to the fact that there must first be a change in the individual before there can be a changed national viewpoint, they are hitting the bullseye.

Not So Cheering

Mr. and Mrs. Newby were silent as the train bore them homeward after their honeymoon. Mr. Newby was hard up. He had spent every penny on the honeymoon and his next pay-day was a fortnight off.

As they neared home the young wife gave a merry laugh. "I'm going to tell you a secret that will cheer you up, Billy," she said. "Before we went away I hid ten pounds in the larder."

"Yes," said her husband. "I know, I found it."

Not Given Much Credit

But Wives Of Early Western Settlers Did Their Part

First white woman to the plains of Western Canada was Marie Galiboury, who journeyed to the Red River in 1807 and later as far west as Edmonton, said E. A. Corbett, local historian, in an address at Saskatoon.

Talking on "Early Women of Western Canada," the speaker remarked early fur traders were notably reticent in giving credit to the women who accompanied them into new lands.

Mr. Corbett referred to the wife of David Thompson, one of the west's earliest explorers. Mrs. Thompson, he said, was a half-breed girl born at Ile a la Crosse in 1785, daughter of Patrick Small, one of the first white traders on the Churchill River. David Thompson married the girl when she was 14 years of age, and from then on she was his constant companion.

The speaker regretted Alexander Mackenzie had left little record of the part his wife played in his northern explorations. "It is unfortunate," he continued, "that we know so little of the wives of the Selkirk Settlers, of such white women as the wife of Factor Rowland, who with her husband made old Fort Edmonton famous for its hospitality during the early years of the last century."

Asphalt In Petroleum

New Process May Make It Available For Paving Material

Oil wells which supply the gasoline to move vehicles were pointed out today as a new source of paving material over which to move them. All petroleum contains asphalt, but much of it has not been utilized for paving because of impurities. By a new vacuum process of extraction, demonstrated at the International Petroleum Exposition, pure asphalt falls like rain out of a cloud of vaporized petroleum. The still in which this is done was invented by Dr. Sidney Born, director of petroleum research at the University of Tulsa. The stills are towers made of heavy steel, 40 to 60 feet high and five to 22 feet in diameter.

In the interior of the towers are almost perfect vacuums. Into them is run petroleum from which gasoline and kerosene have been extracted. The liquid is shot into the vacuum tower at 6,500 degrees Fahrenheit, a temperature at which it instantly explodes into a cloud of vapor. Out of this vapor the asphalt falls completely pure in a coal black rain.

Collars Replace Riband

Holders Of Certain Decoration Must Change When Ordered

Holders of certain orders were their "collars" when the King held the second levee of his reign at St. James' Palace. That was because the levee coincided with the birthday of Queen Mary, and notices announcing it bore the footnote: "N.B.—May 26 is a collar day."

Collar days—there were 35 last year—are days on which, if decorations are worn, the riband of the Garter, the Thistle, the Bath, St. Michael and St. George, the Royal Victorian Order, and certain other orders is replaced by the collar of the order.

It is laid down in court regulations that collars must not be worn after sunset, except by the King's special command, so that they are rarely seen at public dinners or receptions. The collar—with the badge of the order suspended from it—is worn under the shoulder straps or epaulettes of uniforms, fastened with white satin bows, 1½ inches wide, at either side.

New Northern Sea Route

Navigators Of Soviet Have Made Mariners' Dreams Come True

A new sea route has been opened by Soviet navigators after three years' preparatory work. The Russian cargo vessels have succeeded in establishing a route to the Far East along the northern coasts of Europe and Asia. Such a way has been the dream of mariners for centuries, though 10 years ago Nanzen declared it to be impossible. An icebreaker fleet placed along the route has kept the channels open. More than 100 ships of the Soviet mercantile marine have this winter sailed along this roof of the world without a single mishap. Two radio stations keep vessels informed of weather and ice conditions.

The first lesson in the school of experience is simple. You just sign a note for a friend.

Get Practical Training

High School In Jacksonville, Florida, Has Splendid Plan

In Jacksonville, Florida, high school boys and girls are getting training for future jobs in the community at the same time they attend school. They go to school part of the day and the other part they spend in the department store, advertising office, broadcasting station, theatre, hotel, tearoom, telephone office, learning practical work right on the job. Since the inauguration of the "Jacksonville Plan" about two years ago, 86 per cent. of the vocational pupils have secured jobs upon graduation, and the plan is spreading to other cities of the south and west. The majority of the boys and girls leaving high school today cannot go to college, yet their training is directed toward that goal. When they apply for a job, the employer asks: "What can you do?" The answer is, "I don't know, but I can try anything." The Jacksonville graduate says: "I have had two years' experience in a bank, or in an auto-mechanic's shop, or any other of the 43 different types of training positions in the community.—Christian Science Monitor.

Admiral Of Yacht Squadron

King Edward Has Office First Held By Edward VII.

The King has become Admiral of the Royal Yacht Squadron, perhaps the most exclusive club in the world. Edward VII. was the first holder of the office of admiral, inaugurated at his accession in 1901. The club itself was established in 1812.

A story circulated that the famous royal racing cutter Britannia is to be sunk to spare her indignity of the ship-breakers yard. However, enquiries showed this report incorrect. The King has given instructions that the sails and rigging of the craft be sold, but the remainder of the equipment is to be stored and no instructions have been given regarding the hull. The Britannia was built in 1893 for Edward VII. when he was Prince of Wales. The famous cutter won 231 first prizes and 129 other awards in 625 races in the course of 43 years of racing.

Future Of Quintuplets

Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo Hopes They Will Become Normal Young Women

Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo's hopes the Dionne quintuplets will become just as normal young women as girls born singly rest largely now on the women to be entrusted with the education of the famous babies who are now two years old. Admitting he had few fears left about the babies' health, Dr. Dafeo said he and the other guardians will shape the babies' lives until they are 19.

Phones In Canada

Canadians Do More Phoning Than Any Other People

Canadians do more telephoning than any other people in the world. Statistics released at Montreal show every man, woman and child in Canada held an average of 213.4 telephone conversations last year. The United States with 192.4, Denmark and Sweden were next in order. In Canada there are 11 phones for every 100 persons.

Needed Larger Shoes

A pair of size 39 shoes, costing $88 was made in Findlay, Ohio, for Robert Wadlow, the 18-year-old giant of Alton, Ill. The shoes, probably the largest ever made, were returned, however, because, Wadlow said, they "pinched" his feet.

Need More Scholarships

More Opportunity Required For Bright Students Without Means

Dr. R. C. Wallace, newly-appointed principal of Queen's University, stated at Ottawa that Canada needed more scholarships for her students. Dr. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, succeeds Dr. W. Hamilton Fyfe, who accepted principalship of Aberdeen University. It should be possible for a student, irrespective of means, if he has the mental ability, to go right through school and college, said Dr. Wallace.

Regarding positions for university graduates, Dr. Wallace said: "People to-day are realizing more and more the importance of trying to help the trained person and many businessmen are recognizing this and doing all that lies in their power to prevent the trained person from going to waste."

"Sports have a real value in their correct place," he said. "We must remember that students do not go to the university for sports. That is not why universities were founded."

Known As Electric Man

English Farmer Can Take 150 Volts Without Feeling It

Invalided out of the British army as a hopeless cripple after an attack of rheumatic fever, T. Lintott, a farmer of Teynham, England, has become known as "the electric man." When making repairs he never bothers to disconnect the wires. He can take 150 volts without noticing it. After leaving the army he threw away his crutch, mounted a motorcycle and learned to ride unaided. Since then he has not needed the crutch.

World's Only Dwarf Elephant

The smallest adult elephant in the world arrived at St. Nazaire, France, to make his debut in a French circus. He is nine years old, his name is Auguste, he is slightly under five feet tall, and he weighs the trifling total of 1,700 pounds. Auguste was born a normal elephant, but suddenly stopped growing, and is a dwarf to this day. He arrived in a crate labelled: "Fragile; don't turn upside down."

Was Noted Explorer

Harry Whitney, Of New York, Dies In Montreal Hospital

Harry Whitney, of New York, noted explorer and big game hunter, died in hospital at Montreal recently. He was born in 1873.

In 1909 and 1910 he was the centre of a controversy about discovery of the north pole. Mr. Whitney had gone north with Admiral Peary, and in 1909 both Admiral Peary and Dr. Frederick A. Cook returned from the Arctic and both claimed discovery of the north pole.

Doubt was cast on Dr. Cook's claims, and Mr. Whitney entered the controversy. He said he had gone hunting while with the Peary expedition and met Dr. Cook, who left instruments, clothing and other effects with him which Whitney cached.

He said Peary refused to take them aboard his vessel, the Roosevelt.

When the controversy broke it was intimated Mr. Whitney had destroyed Cook's records or had purposely left them behind. Mr. Whitney made only one statement, that Dr. Cook had told him of reaching the north pole and had sworn him to secrecy.

Mr. Whitney returned to the Arctic in three successive summers and continued to be a member of parties which went to the Arctic with Bartlett until 1930.

May Live In Palestine

Hall Salsesse Is Considering Palace On Mount Of Olives

A palace on the Mount of Olives built by an emperor now in exile may become the permanent home of another fugitive sovereign.

Hall Salsesse, who died before the Italian armies, may make his residence in the Kaiserhof palace built by Kaiser Wilhelm II. for his wife, the Empress Augusta Victoria, after their visit to Jerusalem at the end of the last century. It was reported. At that time Palestine was part of the Turkish Empire.

The Negus recently visited the palace, which is now a monastery.

Holiday at Banff and Lake Louise

The pleasure of a mile-high holiday in the Canadian Rockies this summer will attract thousands of tourists from all over the world. They will distribute themselves between the Banff Springs Hotel overlooking the rolling peak-surrounded Bow Valley, beautiful Chateau Lake Louise on the shore of the lake of the same name, and six bungalow camps of charm and comfort in settings as lovely as they are different from each other.

Year by year the Canadian Rockies are becoming the most popular summer playground of the continent, due to the unparalleled beauty of the scenery, and the splendid opportunities for a real mountain holiday with riding, hiking, mountain climbing, swimming, golf, and tennis.

At Banff Springs Hotel, which will be open from June 13 to September 15, golf on a course that ranks with the best in the country is a chief attraction. Not to be forgotten, however, are the joys of riding and hiking to out-of-way places, mountain climbing, tennis on championship courts, fishing in tumultuous mountain streams and lakes that derive their rich colors from glaciers, and motoring, topped off by a swim in the sulphur or natural water pools and dancing in the large ball room.

Chateau Lake Louise, open from June 29 to September 15, is situated on Lake Louise, just opposite Victoria Glacier. Encircled by towering snow-clad peaks, it possesses a sheer breath-taking beauty and in addition attractions peculiarly its own. It is an excellent centre for parties on horseback or by foot to the scenic wonders of the district.

Emerald Lake Chalet and bungalow camps at Radiant Hot Springs, Yoho Valley, Lake Wapiti, Lake O'Hara and Moraine Lake will be open from June 29 to September 15. Off the beaten track, they combine a restful holiday with all the thrills of exploring a beautiful, untrammeled, mountainous land.
